From birth, Michael Kutcher has overcome challenges and conquered obstacles that most people never even glimpse. Born on February 7th, 1978, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, as the unexpected twin brother of actor Christopher “Ashton” Kutcher, Michael met his first of many challenges at delivery. Entering the world notably smaller than his twin at less than five pounds, Michael was hardly responsive and struggled to take his first breath.

Thanks to both outstanding medical care and his indomitable instinct to survive, Michael pulled through his first days and weeks, although not without lasting adverse effects. By age three, Michael was battling significant developmental delays caused by irreversible neurological pathologies. He was diagnosed with Cerebral Palsy before he entered Kindergarten.

Michael’s innate desire to thrive throughout his childhood helped him overcome issues with eyesight, speech, and motor skill development. Michael grew up in a loving and supportive family that taught him the value of the health he did have and how to make the best of his circumstances. Unfortunately, Michael’s uphill battle was only getting started.

Diagnosed with heart failure at age 13, Michael again faced the unthinkable challenge of survival. After being given a life expectancy of just three to four weeks, Michael again defeated the odds and successfully received a lifesaving heart transplant.

It was this second close brush with death that opened Michael’s eyes to the fragility of life and inspired him to take control of the future he once thought he wouldn’t have. Michael graduated from Clear Creek Amana High School in 1996 and later continued his education, earning his Bachelor’s Degree in Business Management and Finance from Mount Mercy University.

His medical triumphs and perspective on disabilities have led him to work as a disability and organ donation advocate and an advisor to the Cerebral Palsy Foundation and several other disability and organ donation organizations. Michael has spoken at The White House as a member of the Organ Donation Summit, the National Institute of Health, and the Center for Disease Control and provided Congressional testimony where Michael has worked to raise awareness for local and national fund-raising initiatives. Michael is the creator of the Diffability brand and has recently finished his memoir, which will be released in the upcoming year.

When he’s not advocating for Cerebral Palsy awareness or inspiring audiences around the nation, Michael resides in Fort Collins, Colorado, where he’s built a successful twenty-year career with Transamerica Retirement Solutions. Michael enjoys spending time with his family, traveling, and playing golf in his free time.

Michael’s message is one of inspiration, hope, and appreciation. Having overcome unthinkable challenges against extraordinary odds, Michael is living proof that perseverance and unwavering positivity can surmount even the most seemingly impossible obstacles.

“Michael Kutcher’s presentation to our sales and sales leadership teams at our National Sales Conference was absolutely amazing. We had 4 days of a solid agenda which creates fatigue. It had been hard for many to stay focused. From the moment that Michael took the stage to when he walked off the stage to a standing ovation, all the focus was on him and his incredibly powerful story. The story was GREAT. The delivery was GREAT. Not a dry eye in the house and the feedback that I’ve gotten has been the best for any speaker that has ever had the opportunity to get in front of Transamerica team. It made us think, it allowed us take perspective, it motivated us to be our very best; whoever we are and whatever we do. Thank YOU!!!”
